- ☘ 1055 Religion in Human Culture Grades 11, 12
Prerequisite: None

This course examines in an objective manner various functions of religion, religious stereotypes, symbols, religious diversity, and the role of religion in current issues. The primary objective is not to advocate nor convert students to religion, but rather to increase their awareness, knowledge, and respect for other religious traditions.

- ☘ 1057 Humanities: Human Culture Through Sports Grades 11, 12
Prerequisite: None

Do you have a passion for sports? Do you like to debate who the greatest athlete is? If so this is the class for you! This is an elective class that will examine the development of sports throughout time. The course's historical study will focus on helping students gain a better understanding of the intricate relationship between sports and social, economic, cultural and political forces. There is a very large online component to this course. This allows our students the freedom to learn at their own pace and choose the curriculum that fits their passions and strengths! Over 12 weeks we will unlock the mystery "hold" sport has on the American public through analysis and discussions. Put your helmet on, it's game time!

- ☘ 1058 Humanities: Human Culture Through Music Grades 11, 12
Prerequisite: None

If you like music this is the class for you! Offered during the spring trimester this online based course will take you through the history of modern music and allow you to pick the topics as you go. Much of the focus is on the context of the political, historical, demographic, cultural and technological forces at work in the modern and post-modern world. The course will further look at how cultural changes have influenced contemporary music. Wondering just how big of an impact Jay-Z has had on music? Curious why Taylor Swift has such a great business model? You will learn all these answers and more.

 1079 Sociology	Grade 12
	Prerequisite:	None

Sociology is the study of human social relationships, analyzing how membership in groups influences people and how they see the world. The course will introduce topics such as cultural diversity and conformity, adolescents and social media, social control and deviance, racial and ethnic relations, the family, education and religion, sports and mass media, and collective behavior and social change. Unique to the course, students, through the use of technology, will have the freedom to choose specific topics of interest to them for study. Individualized assignments, projects, and assessments will be implemented.

 1080 Psychology A	Grade 12
	Prerequisite:	None

This course will focus on various aspects of human development, beginning with infancy and childhood, progressing through the adolescent years, and moving through adulthood and aging. Special attention will be given to the psychological processes of typical human development as we all move through these stages. The course will also include content that analyzes altered states of consciousness, including sleep and dreams, hypnosis, and drug use. Altered states of consciousness will be addressed from both a biological and psychological perspective.

 1081 Psychology B	Grade 12
	Prerequisite:	None

Cognitive psychology is the scientific study of mind and mental function. The modern study of cognition rests on the premise that the brain can be understood as a complex computing system. Specific topics of study will be sensation and perception, learning, memory and thought, thinking and language, and motivation and emotion. As a point of emphasis, these topics will be related to our ability to understand why we make the decisions we do in our daily lives.

SOCIAL STUDIES COURSES

1082 Psychology C

Grade 12
Prerequisite: None

Abnormal psychology is a division of psychology that studies people who are abnormal, or atypical when compared to other members of a society. The course will begin with analysis of the methods and guidelines used to diagnose a disorder. We will also study common theories of personality. Ultimately, the topic of study will turn to specific psychological disorders, ranging from those that are relatively common, such as anxiety disorders, to those that are quite rare, such as paranoid schizophrenia, or certain phobias. Additional focus will be on the wide range of treatment options available to patients today.

1083 Advanced Placement Government and Politics A 1084 Advanced Placement Government and Politics B

Grade 12
Prerequisite: None

This two trimester Advanced Placement course in government includes both the study of general concepts used to interpret U.S. government and politics and the analysis of specific examples. It also requires familiarity with the various institutions, groups, beliefs and ideas that constitute U.S. government and politics.

1085 Developmental Psychology A 1086 Developmental Psychology B 1087 Developmental Psychology C

Grade 12
Prerequisite: Application Process

This unique class will involve a very high level of commitment and responsibility, and will offer a wide variety of benefits. It is offered in a two period format and is worth two credits. The course will concentrate on the following areas. (1) This class will teach the district's drug education curriculum to small groups of 6th grade students for the entire year. Students will plan lessons, teach and evaluate themselves, their students and each other. This teacher mentorship provides keen insight into the workings and dynamics of education. (2) The process of group growth will be explored. Working within the group process so as to create an atmosphere of trust and commitment, students will grow in knowledge about themselves and others. NOTE: This is a year-long course. Students should register for all three courses. Senior students enrolled in Developmental Psychology must also enroll in Principles of Economics to fulfill the 12th grade Social Studies requirement. Students successfully completing this course may have the opportunity to earn Articulated College Credit from a post-secondary institution. Please contact the course instructor for more information regarding articulation agreements and participating colleges and universities.

1088 Advanced Placement Psychology A 1089 Advanced Placement Psychology B 1090 Advanced Placement Psychology C

Grade 12
Prerequisite: None

The purpose of the full year Advanced Placement course in psychology is to introduce students to the systematic and scientific study of behavior and mental processes of human beings and animals. Students are exposed to the psychological facts, principles, and phenomena associated with the major subfields within psychology. They also learn about the methods psychologists use in their science and practice. (Taken from the Advanced Placement Course Description in Psychology by the College Board.)

1093 Advanced Placement Micro Economics A 1094 Advanced Placement Macro Economics B 1095 Advanced Placement Macro & Micro Economics C

Grade 12
Prerequisite: None

This full year Advanced Placement course in economics gives high-ability students the opportunity to earn college credit in economics while still in high school. Students can earn credit for two separate college courses as they are prepared for two separate AP exams through this one course. More importantly, the contents develop critical thinking skills through the understanding, application and analysis of fundamental economic concepts. Students will learn to apply quantitative and mathematical skills to the discipline of economics, test economic propositions empirically, improve their decision-making skills and apply economic logic to a wide variety of real world and hypothetical situations. All students will be expected to take the AP Examinations in both Microeconomics and Macroeconomics. The course will be divided into three parts split along trimester lines: the first devoted to the study of Microeconomics; the second trimester to Macroeconomics; and the third to the application of formulas, theories and concepts to real world situations with an emphasis on current domestic and international economic issues.

1805 ACT Prep

Grades 10, 11, 12
Prerequisite: None

Whether you have taken the ACT test before or you are new to the experience, this course will prepare you to do your personal best. The trimester long elective course will navigate students through the ACT testing process and will focus on understanding the format of the test, building strategies for answering more questions correctly and pacing yourself during a timed test. Students build confidence and skills that will boost their scores on the actual test. Students will have access to hundreds of practice questions and an online program that helps them continue preparing even after the course is completed. One assignment for the course will be to take a mock test under actual testing conditions outside the normal school day. Students are encouraged to purchase an ACT Prep workbook to enhance their learning in the class. Note: The course is a general elective credit and does not qualify as one of the [English, Math, Science, Social Studies] credits required for graduation. Note: This course is not an NCAA core academic class.
